

Jacopo Benedetti is a professional photographer a visual designer, and a terrible rock dancer. Born in Italy in Rome.

Quick learner, predisposition to hard work, extrovert, versatile, strong on teamwork and in multicultural environments with a great sense of responsibility, sociable, eased to adapt to new situations; eager to learn and increase personal development and knowledge.

He has been working as a freelance for various companies and private entities, which had enabled him further development of knowledge and experience as a researcher and designer by applying web solutions, photography and graphics, that have been also acquired by self-taught.

He has always worked closely with people in order to solve problems in the most efficient ways in a variety of work fields and situations by applying knowledge on public relations, photography and graphic.

Jacopo is captivated by the world wide forms of expression, which have led him to publish on different Italian magazines, and published some shots on National geographic Ita and usa.

Always in love with shape, light, spaces and signs. Jacopo is looking for the perfect balance between form and function; between work, creation, thinking, drawing, cooking, sleeping, tasting, reading, sense of humour and photography, the latter always.
